Notes From the President...

Happy New Year!

Thanks to all who made year 2000 such a beading success - to Sue Hinshon, Deanna Van Assche, Cathy Vandenburg and Sherry Johnston for all the Make’N’Take we enjoyed over the year - to Shirley Ballentine who wears hats of Treasurer, Volunteers and Workshops and excels in all of them - to Jeanette Isenhour for the Beader Reader written with her warm sense of humor - to Jude Kovil for the visually great job she does with our website - to ALL the Board and Committee members who help make my job easy.

Speaking of volunteers, we need a Publicity person for 2001. Eva Contogurs, who has done an outstanding job over the years, has decided to focus more on her teaching degree pursuit. Eva is willing to help and advise, but needs to relinquish being in charge.

We are also looking for someone who will organize recruiting volunteers for the Bead Bonanzas. If you have an interest in a job on the Board or Committee, please speak to me or any of the current Board/Committee members.

Remember: Guild meetings will be canceled because of weather whenever evening classes at Oakland Community College's Royal Oak campus are canceled, as announced by WJR radio or television stations.

We do have an exciting year planned and I'm looking forward to meeting more of you.

Sincerely - Barb

January 16 Guild Meeting

Make/Take Valentine Hearts

Ignore the cold and snow! Get to the January 16 Guild meeting to chat and work on a special Valentine's Day Make 'N Take Project.

The kits have been put together by Program Chairs Sherry Johnson, Deanna Van Assche and Cathy Vandenberg for Guild Members. Extra additional kits may be available for a small fee.

Bring your favorite beading needs - needles, thread, lights, mats - to the January 16, 2001 meeting. Oh yes, and bring your best Valentine Heart spirits for sharing too!

Check Page 5 for information on the February Bead Daze Classes and the Bead Bonanza. If there are any openings for classes, you can sign up for them at the January or February meeting.

Dates in bold represent additional programs to the Guild's regularly scheduled meetings. Workshops typically require preregistration.

February 20 Guild Meeting

Raisa Gareeva Explains Crafts of the Silk Road; Rainstick Project Debuts for Year-long Stitching Adventure

Raisa Gareeva, tour guide and craft lover from Bukhara, Uzbekistan, will give a lecture about crafts of the Silk Road, as well as bring some items to show and sell, according to Sue Hinshon who will also bring some of the things she collected during her September trip there. "It promises to be an interesting evening," says Sue. "I think Raisa can give us all a wonderful evening and a taste of what life is like on the Old Silk Road of Central Asia. She has a wonderful story about a developing country and their pride in textiles and all things handmade. She is instrumental in bringing these artists to New York to sell their wares at the Gift show there." Please join us for an evening of cultural sharing and get your own taste of Central Asia!

Also at the February 20 Guild meeting, the Rainstick Project will be introduced and you must be a Guild Member to participate in this project, according to Sue Hinshon, Project Leader. You'll get to design and bead your very own Rainstick through all of 2001 with month by month offerings of additional stitches and techniques to be incorporated onto the stick. At the end of the year, a special program will feature all the rainsticks highlighting the creative individualities of the geniuses in this Guild.

Central Asian Adventures - (Or What I Did Last September) - By Sue Hinshon

Textiles, beads, costumes.... Markets filled with carpets, costumes, exotic scents, foods, and friendly people all hawking their wares.... All elements of a vacation I love best. Going to Central Asia this past September was a long-time dream for me. For three weeks I was surrounded by wonderful embroideries, handmade carpets, felts and a whole range of jewelry. I was in heaven! And then there were all those tassels to decorate everything. My luggage got heavier and heavier as time marched on - what a wonderful way to see the world.

Travel in Central Asia is a bittersweet mix of old and new, built on the foundation of the Old Silk Road where Europeans traded goods with China for several centuries. It is a blend of many cultures, and the people changed as we moved from one country to the other. Some things, though, were the same in every place - their wonderful warmth and generosity, and their love of handwork of any kind.

They use textiles of the most beautiful sort for all kinds of household things - to cover walls, floors, yurts beds, and even food on their beautifully set tables. What they lacked in money, they more than made up for with a warm friendly smile and always their stash of fabulous textiles, proudly put on display for us to see and admire. I've been on many craft tours, but their pride in craftsmanship and wonderful handwork made these people stand out from the rest. I loved it!

Uzbekistan is by far the most diverse and exciting country... in Samarkand and Bukhara the old cities are magnificent with fabulous architecture. Old textiles are plentiful...carpets, women's traditional dress, embroidery, silk ikat weavers, master blockprinters, hats, rugs as well as ceramics, wood, and metal. There is a pride here and a desire to really start over after being part of the Soviet Union for so long. The old crafts are being reinterpreted in a more modern way, and the artists there, like us here, are struggling to find their artistic identity and find markets for their wares.

We went to three fabulous fashion shows where the designers showed us clothes that would look totally at ease on the runways in New York! What a delightful surprise.

Life is hard in these countries. Average monthly salary for an Uzbeki teacher is $60 a month, and she would only make $30 for that same month in Krystan! Making and selling textiles is a way to make money. With their shy smiles and eagerness to communicate, they warmed their way into my heart forever!

My biggest disappointment was not being able to go to Tajikistan where all the beading is done. The US forbid Americans going to Taliban because border raids made Americans targets. The few museum pieces I saw of their beadwork made me realize what a loss for all of us.

Raisa Gareeva was our local guide there. A short, but VERY spunky woman, she ran interference for us in millions of ways. After several talks with her, I asked her to come and talk to you, bringing some of those wonderful textiles. We can build a bridge between needleworkers here and there. I'm not yet sure how this can be done, but I will also bring some of the things that I brought home, some books on Silk Road Crafts, and a picture album so you can see what wonderful things I saw while traveling in Central Asia. Raisa will also bring a few things for sale.

Eileen Lists Bead Stores

Eileen Kapala has compiled an extensive list of Bead stores and suppliers in the Detroit and outlying areas. This list is not paid advertising, but rather a service of information to our readers, and is being included with this Beader Reader on the back side of this page. Duplicate copies of this list will be available at the Guild meetings, and we plan to include it again in a fall Beader Reader.

Please understand this listing was compiled by the goodness of her heart with all attempts at accuracy, but if you find some information to adjust, please email corrections to Eileen at trkapalka@juno.com. or see her at the Guild meetings.

Bead Festival Daze Classes
Feature 3 National Beaders

Three national Beader/Teachers will be leading classes in variety of techniques February 21-24, in connection with the Bead Bonanza. Registration began January 8 via mail. Check at the Guild meeting on January 16 for any openings in the classes.

Margo Field will be teaching NET NOUVEAU, a unique netting technique lined with silk, and FANTASY BUTTERFLY NECKLACE. Margo has received several awards, exhibited her work at national exhibitions, and has been featured in many publications.

Lisa Niven-Kelly's classes include BEAD O'PLENTRY, a freeform large focal beaded bead, and FINAL TOUCHES - making clasps, jump rings, and earwires in various designs. Also, CHAINS ONE and CHAINS TWO - hand-made chains with only wire, your hands and tools - no soldering. Lisa has been teaching beading workshops for 8 years, in addition to being an accomplished glass beadmaker/artist.

Diane Fitzgerald will teach ROSE GARDEN NECKLACE - a three-dimensional peyote stitch Tea Rose, leaves, and a natted base, plus GINGKO LEAF NECKLACE using increasing brick stitch and color gradations, and PETROGLYPHS & PAISLEYS: BRICK STITCH BASICS & BEYOND - brick stitch including increasing/decreasing, edge embellishment, and a variety of contemporary bead assemblage techniques. Diane's classes concentrate on learning techniques. She is the author of several books on beading, including Zulu Beaded Chain Techniques.

Many Helping Hands Make Bonanza Wonderful!

The "rewards" for volunteering at the Bonanza include free admission to the Bonanza, a distinctive T-shirt to wear and keep, and the opportunity to win a "Bead Buck" certificate, redeemable for beads (what else???) at the next Bonanza.

Sign up at the January 16 Guild meeting for your favorite job!
